

6516207031.txt

localized information only makes satellite radio more appealing to audiences. now they have media they can listen to anywhere AND local information like weather and traffic. This is a no brainer folks! I use Sirius Satellite radio, which provides the same type of service as XM, and with the only drawback being limited to larger cities at the moment, this is a great feature for people that don't listen to broadcast radio because of the commercials and lack of selection.